Asian/Asian-American Student Exploration Group - Spring 2016

The Asian/Asian-American at Dartmouth group offers students a different way to explore Asian-ness from other currently available activities on campus. If you’re looking for such an opportunity consider joining us!

WHAT:
A group for Asian/Asian-American students is being organized by Da-Shih Hu and Sarah Chung, counselors from Counseling & Human Development. It will focus on issues students encounter related to being Asian or Asian-American within the Dartmouth community. The group will give students an opportunity to discuss their experiences and learn about others’ experiences in a safe setting that facilitates students’ sharing, connecting, and understanding more about what being Asian/Asian-American means to them.

Topics in the previous group have included Asian activism, stereotypes, racism, body image, emotional expressiveness, and mental health. In the initial meeting the members will decide on topics of interest, which will structure the general areas of discussion for the rest of the groups.

A recent member wrote unprompted, “I had a much more positive and enlightening experience than I ever expected to have … Please keep helping to support confused Asian-Americans all over this campus.

WHEN:
Spring Term 2016 (starting 2nd week of term)
Weekly: Possible times are Tuesdays 3-4pm, 4-5pm, or Thursdays 4-5pm.
*contingent on enough student participation

To aid in the connection of the group, students are asked to commit to coming to all or nearly all of the meetings, and members will not be added after the third week of the term.
