

Applying for English 85, Fall term 2009

Submissions are due by May 15 in the spring term preceding your senior year. They should be given to the Administrative Assistant. If you are off campus, please send your submission by mail or email to the English Department. It must arrive by the May 15 deadline.

Submissions should include an eight to ten page manuscript of writing in the genre for which you are applying.

Submissions MUST also include the following information:

1. Your name, class year, and major. English 85 is not required of creative writing majors or minors. It will continue to serve as the culminating experience for the major; however, other English courses will satisfy this requirement as well.
2. The section and genre for which you are applying.
3. List of all creative writing courses taken, indicating which instructor you studied with. Include Dartmouth courses as well as any transfer courses or courses approved from overseas programs.

Please note that all students enrolled in Creative Writing courses may be required to attend the English Department's Poetry and Prose reading series which occurs on occasional Thursdays, 4 – 5:30 pm throughout each term.
