

Instructions for the Use of the Publication Agreement Amendment [NIH-inclusive]

This AMENDMENT (next page) is a legal instrument that accompanies and modifies the publisher's agreement you sign in order to have your work published in a journal. Signing and adding the amendment to your publisher's agreement enables you to retain the right to grant NIH a license to accept a copy of your article and to make it available for public distribution via PubMed Central within 12 months after its initial publication in a journal as well as enabling you to retain the right to use your work in the course of your scholarly activities, to make copies of it, to post it to a Web site or place it in a digital repository managed by Dartmouth College, and to share it with colleagues and students as you choose.

Authors submitting articles reporting on research supported wholly or in part by NIH MUST add an amendment to their publication agreements. Some journals insist on signature of an online, electronic publishing agreement that is not amendable. Authors should not sign such agreements, but should request that an agreement be sent to them by mail or e-mail. Authors should be assured that such a request will in no way affect their chances of publication.

To use this NIH-inclusive amendment:

Step 1: Sign your publisher's copyright transfer or publication agreement when you submit your final manuscript for publication with the following statement written above your signature:

“subject to attached amendment”

You must complete Step 1 in order to make the amendment binding.

Step 2: Attach this amendment (next page) with the information filled in and your signature on the bottom.

Step 3: Send both to the publisher and fax a copy to 603-646-3702.

Step 4: Please give us any feedback that you receive from the publisher. If a publisher is unwilling to sign the Amendment and you would like assistance, please call in (Journal title) _____

1. The parties agree that wherever there is any conflict between this Amendment and the Publication Agreement, the provisions of this Amendment are paramount and the Publication Agreement shall be construed accordingly.

2. Author's Retention of Rights. AUTHOR and PUBLISHER agree that, notwithstanding any terms in the Publication Agreement to the contrary, and in addition to any rights under copyright retained by Author in the Publication Agreement, Author retains: (i) the rights to reproduce, to distribute, to publicly perform, and to publicly display the Article in any medium for non-commercial purposes; (ii) the right to prepare derivative works from the Article; and (iii) the right to authorize others to make any non-commercial use of the Article so long as Author receives credit as author and the journal in which the Article has been published is cited as the source of first publication of the Article. For example, Author may make and distribute copies in the course of teaching and research and may post the Article on personal or institutional Web sites and in other open-access digital repositories.

3. Publisher's Additional Commitments. Publisher agrees to provide to Author within 14 days of first publication and at no charge an electronic copy of the published Article in a format, such as the Portable Document Format (.pdf), that preserves final page layout, formatting, and content. No technical restriction, such as security settings, will be imposed to prevent copying or printing of the document.

4. Acknowledgment of Prior License Grants. In addition, where applicable and without limiting the retention of rights above, Publisher acknowledges that Author's assignment of copyright or Author's grant of exclusive rights in the Publication Agreement is subject to Author's prior grant of a non-exclusive copyright license to Author's employing institution and/or to a funding entity that financially supported the research reflected in the Article as part of an agreement between Author or Author's employing institution and such funding entity, such as an agency of the United States government, including but not limited to the National Institutes of Health.

5. For record keeping purposes, Author requests that Publisher sign a copy of this Amendment and return it to Author. However, if Publisher publishes the Article in the journal or in any other form without signing a copy of this Amendment, such publication manifests Publisher's assent to the terms of this Amendment.
