Dean of the Faculty of Arts and Sciences (DOF): Provides numerous faculty opportunities, including start-up funds, annual research fund, grants for research and conferences, and external granting support.

Faculty Development and Diversity, Office of the Provost: Supports professional development through peer mentoring, faculty exchanges (including with Morehouse and Spelman Colleges), and membership in the National Center for Faculty Development and Diversity.

Dartmouth Center for the Advancement of Learning (DCAL): Hosts workshops, grants, and other initiatives in support of innovative and inclusive teaching methods, digital pedagogy, and experiential learning.

Undergraduate Advising and Research (UGAR): Opportunities for faculty to enhance their research through undergraduate mentoring. Flagship programs includes:
- James O. Freedman Presidential Scholar Research Assistantship
- Mellon Mays Undergraduate Fellowship Program
- Sophomore Science Scholarship
- Women in Science Project
- E. E. Just STEM Scholars Program

Centers, Institutes, and Clusters: Numerous disciplinary and interdisciplinary units support research, teaching, public outreach, and global impact. In addition to campus programming, many offer internal grant opportunities. A small selection of the more than fifty initiatives:
- Arts at Dartmouth
- Montgomery Fellows Program
- William Jewett Tucker Center for Religious and Spiritual Life (Tucker)
- Nelson A. Rockefeller Center for Public Policy (Rocky)
- John Sloan Dickey Center for International Understanding (Dickey).
- Leslie Center for the Humanities (Leslie Center)
- Neukom Institute for Computational Science (Neukom)
- Gender Research Institute at Dartmouth (GRID)

Office of Institutional Diversity & Equity (IDE): Connects faculty and staff through the Employee Resource Networks, which include affinity groups such as the Veterans Network, Black Caucus, Asian and Pacific Islander Caucus, Latino Council, International Employee Network, EmpowHER (women of color), LGBTQ Network, and the Native American Council. Faculty and their families can also connect with student affinity groups through the Office of Pluralism and Leadership (OPAL) and the Council on Student Organizations.

Office of Human Resources: In addition to a wide range of campus and community benefits, HR is home to the Child Care Project and the Dual Career Network Services for spouses and partners.

For more complete information, please consult the Campus & Community Resource Guide.