EDITORIAL BOARD SERVICE:

Member, Editorial Boards of Journal of the Philosophy of Surgery and Medicine, Reason in Practice: The Journal of Philosophy of Management, Business Ethics Quarterly, Journal of Religious Ethics.

COURSES TAUGHT:Biomedical Ethics:

Participating Faculty Member (December 1997) in Harvard Medical School Continuing Education Program course on "Transcranial Magnetic Stimulation." At Dartmouth: "Introduction to Religion and Biomedical Ethics"; "Sexual Morality"; "Ethics and Population Growth"; at New College, University of Edinburgh (in connection with a Dartmouth foreign study exchange program, fall 2000) "The Ethics of Human Cloning." Summers 1997-98 present I co-taught a model course developed and introduced by the Ethics Institute and funded by a grant from NIH on "The Ethical, Legal, and Social Implications of the Human Genome Project." This course was accompanied by a Faculty Institute which prepares selected college and university teachers from the US and abroad to introduce a similar course in their home institutions (a three year renewal grant for this Institute was awarded in December 1999); In Winter 1995 and 1996 I co-taught a new course developed and introduced by the Ethics Institute and funded by a grant from NSF, NEH and FIPSE (Fund for the Improvement of Post-Secondary Education). Title: "Ethical, Social, and Legal Issues in Assisted Reproduction."

Other Areas:

Religion and Morality; Ethical Issues Raised by Nuclear Energy; Ethics and Armed Violence; Religion, Ethics and Political Theory; Ethics and Economic Life; Introduction to Comparative Religion; Religious and Anti-Religious Thinkers; Comparative Religious Ethics; Sociology of Religion; Issues in the Philosophy of Religion; The Ethics of Existentialism; Eastern and Western Conceptions of the Self; Introduction to Women's Studies; Business Ethics (taught as Amos Tuck School second year elective course "Business Ethics" and as a four week unit in the required first year "Business Environments" course).

- 7) Population Growth and Justice: An Examination of Moral Issues Raised by Rapid Population Growth. Harvard Dissertations in Religion, No. 5. Scholars Press: Missoula, Montana, 1976.

IB. Books edited:

- 1) Global Bioethics. This volume brings together the papers from a Symposium on Global Bioethics held at Dartmouth October 17-19, 2005. The volume, which I co-edit with Aine Donovan and Steven Jauss, is in press with Oxford University Press, Oxford, UK.
- 2) Ethics and The Human Genome Project. This volume brings together the papers from a Reunion Conference of our nine years of NIH funded faculty summer institutes on the “ethical, legal and Social implications of the human genome project” held at Dartmouth August 11-12, 2006. The volume, which I co-edit with Aine Donovan is in press with University Press of New England.
- 3) Religion and Sexual Health: Ethical, Theological and Clinical Perspectives. Dordrecht, The Netherlands: Kluwer Academic Publishers, 1992.

II. Special Publications:

- (1) Report of the Human Embryo Research Panel. Washington, DC: National Institutes of Health, Office of Science Policy, 1995. I played a role in drafting parts of the second chapter of this Report, “Ethical Considerations in Preimplantation Embryo Research.”

- (2) Stem Cell Research and Applications: Monitoring the Frontiers of Biomedical Research. Washington, DC: American Association for the Advancement of Science and the Institute for Civil Society, 1999. This report was written by Audrey R. Chapman, Mark S. Frankel and Michele S. Garfinkle. I served on the Working Group that discussed and drafted preliminary sections of the report. I had special responsibilities for the sections dealing with “Spiritual and Religious Contexts” and “Ethical Concerns.”

III. Films:

- (1) “Dreams and Dilemmas: Parents and the Practice of Neonatal Care.” I am co-producer (with George A. Little, M.D.) of this hour-long documentary video. Filmed and edited by filmmaker Richard Kahn, it follows the experience of one couple during the six month period in which their twin premature infants are treated in Dartmouth Hitchcock Medical Center’s Neonatal Intensive Care Unit (NICU). “Dreams” won: the silver medal at the 1998 Houston’s Worldfest Film Festival; First Place Award in 1998 at the National Council of Family Relations 30th Annual Media Competition; the Bronze Award at the 1999 Health Sciences Communications Association Media festival; and the Silver Apple at the 1999 National Educational Media Network Apple Film Awards. The film was funded by a grant from the Greenwall Foundation. It is in distribution with Fanlight Productions and is accompanied by a study guide written by me and George A. Little.
- (2) “In Our Midst: Outcomes of Neonatal Intensive Care.” I am co-producer (with George A. Little, M.D.) of this hour-long documentary video. Filmed and edited by filmmaker Richard Kahn, it explores neonatal outcomes by focusing on the experience of a family with four children (one adopted) who are graduates of the NICU. It is in distribution with Fanlight Productions and is accompanied by a study guide written by me and George A. Little.
