

ANNUAL SOCIOLOGY DEPARTMENT AWARDS
June 2011

Certificates of Distinction - established by the Sociology Department in 2000 to be presented to students in recognition of their high academic achievement.

Stephany Acosta '11
Fabeah Adu-Oppong '11
Emily K. Carian '11
Hillary S. Cheng '11
Timothy L. Dolan '11
Gregory S. Goldstein '11
Samantha K. Gutierrez '11
Rebecca E. Harrington '11
Katherine C. Hicks '11
Gabriel M. Lopez '11
Samuel F. McElhinney '11
Alina M. Politzer '11
Nicholas T. Pulito '11
Jaclyn K. Wypler '11

The Sociological Imagination Award - established by the Sociology Department in 2005 to be presented to those students who have exhibited a strong grasp of the sociological imagination and who use that understanding to promote social justice in everyday life.

Fabeah Adu-Oppong '11
Robert Polanco '11
Nicholas T. Pulito '11
Samantha K. Gutierrez '11
Brittney S. Smith '11

The Sociology Department Award for Outstanding Achievement - established by the Sociology Department in 2003 to be presented to the graduating senior with the highest academic achievement.

Emily K. Carian '11

The Ralph P. Holben Prize - established by Mrs. Ralph P. Holben, is given each year to the senior major in the Department who showed the greatest promise in the general field of applied sociology, this being the area to which Professor Holben devoted some forty years of teaching at Dartmouth.

Aryana S. Jacobs '11
Jaclyn K. Wypler '11

The Mecklin Prize - established by Mrs. John M. Mecklin (Mrs. Theodore W. Gorden) of Hanover, is awarded each year to a student majoring in sociology that is judged by the Department as having demonstrated to an outstanding degree the high intellectual standards of originality and vigor that characterized Professor Mecklin's academic career as professor of Sociology at Dartmouth.

Stephany Acosta '11

Truxal – Not awarded at this time.