

Logging Your Footage

Logging your footage as you shoot your video project will help you to realize:

- What you really have
- What you're missing
- What your best shots are
- What shots have problems and can't be used

As you log your footage, you automatically begin to see ways in which you can put the shots together to form scenes. You also see how the scenes can be sequenced to create a production. Basically, you're already editing!

| IN-POINT   | OUT-POINT  | DURATION   | COMMENT                          | GOOD? |
|------------|------------|------------|----------------------------------|-------|
| 0:00:00:00 | 0:00:23:04 | 0:00:23:05 | Sarah opens backpack             | Yes   |
| 0:00:23:05 | 0:00:43:15 | 0:00:20:21 | Sarah finds book, opens to page. | Yes   |
| 0:00:43:16 | 0:00:53:21 | 0:00:10:06 | Sarah zips up packpack           | No    |
|            |            |            |                                  |       |
|            |            |            |                                  |       |
|            |            |            |                                  |       |
|            |            |            |                                  |       |
|            |            |            |                                  |       |
|            |            |            |                                  |       |

