raunerlibrary #treasuretuesday: Another gem from the uncat realia collection! Well... a gem that freaked everyone out in the library... This tiny circular silver object is a make-up compact that Percival M. Allen, Class of 1920, gave to his fiancée, Fannie Powers, as a dance favor. Still have some powder left in it – anyone wanna give it a try? #dartmouthcollege #raunerlibrary #compacts #makeup #realia priyapriya @ayy_nopp !!!

baylauris So did they end up together?! (Did this compact work better than the other one?!) raunerlibrary @baylauris It doesn't say whether they did! It only says Mrs. Henry Allen gave it to is in 1991... I hope they did 🍀 raunerlibrary #treasuretuesday: Congratulations Dartmouth students for your last day of class for fall 2016! At this point, it's only the final exams, papers and projects that are between you and the nice long five-week winter break... Speaking of finals, we found this crib sheet created by William N. Johnston, class of 1893, in our realia collection, which appears to have been used for studying German. A well-made crib sheet is for sure a lifesaver during the finals though, of course, you shouldn't sneak it into the exams unless your professors allowed you! You will need to make just a few more of these and you will be done! #almostthere! #dartmouthcollege #raunerlibrary #lastdayofclass #studyingforfinals raunerlibrary (34 sec) We haven't done #traveltuesday in a while so I decided to introduce arguably one of my favorite artist books at Rauner! In Mapping My World, Laura Davidson created pop-up elements that depict different places that she had lived. I loved every page of this book but I have to say my favorite was Florence, with its elaborate pop-up of Basilica di S.Croce! Tell us which was your favorite pop-up! #dartmouthcollege #raunerlibrary #lauradavidsonbooks #boston #florence #firenze #michigan izanamic2 Thanks for the visuals here lauradavidsonbooks I just saw this today!

Thank you ❤️❤️

raunerlibrary One of the rich but not as well-known collections in Rauner is the White Mountains Collection, which contains various books, serials and manuscripts on the White Mountain range in northern New Hampshire. For #traveltuesday, we found a topographical map from the collection that was made in 1872 and gives us a good overview of the area. #dartmouthcollege #raunerlibrary #whitemountainsnh #map rickerlibraryui That sounds like such a cool collection!

raunerlibrary @rickerlibraryui It really is! And we are hoping more people would come into see items from the collection!

raunerlibrary Cool #manuscript to start off your week: This Hebrew manuscript is an Ashkenazi script of Book of Esther, written on parchment around 1850s in Palestine. It appears like several square-shaped parchment pieces were glued at the end of each edge to create a long scroll. #manuscriptmonday #dartmouthcollege #raunerlibrary #hebrewmanuscript #parchment #bookofesther syntaxsugar I love your posts! I'm a '10 who's now in the MLIS program at UMD. Keep up the awesome work!

raunerlibrary #mysterymonday and #manuscriptmonday mash-up: All we know about this codex is that it's an Ethiopian prayer scroll. It also appears to have been written in vernacular and has some cool illustrations but we have no idea what it's about! Any Ethiopian experts out there? #dartmouthcollege #raunerlibrary #ethiopianprayer scroll raunerlibrary #manuscriptmonday:

Alexander Warren is a French-born man who later became a U.S. citizen and served as a U.S. Navy warrant officer in 1850s. Rauner has his diaries, manuscripts and typescripts from his sea adventures, and my favorite of all time is his drawing and sketches file! Not only was he a skilled sailor but also a very talented man! In this sketch, Warren drew different ships and labeled them. Look at all the details!

raunerlibrary Happy Labor Day! We brought colorful and energetic marble to celebrate this day! This vibrant red marble comes from the cover of Picturesque America, a book introducing scenic places to visit in America. White Mountains are also featured in this book! Beautiful marble from a book about beautiful places for #marbledmonday : } @dartmouthcollege #raunerlibrary #picturesqueamerica #whitemountainsnh baylauris Love the side-by-side comparison!

dplvintage This is wonderful!

papapetersenricano What a brilliant idea!

raunerlibrary Thank you, @baylauris @dplvintage @papapetersenricano! Playing with the angle so it would line up with the old one side-by-side was a bit challenging but fun!
