

page 2

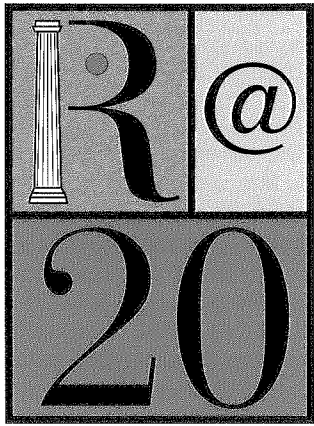

page 3

page 4

page 5

ROCKEFELLER CENTER
AT DARTMOUTH COLLEGE

20TH ANNIVERSARY YEAR

A Catalyst for Public Policy Research & Education

☎ 603-646-3874

☎ 603-646-1329

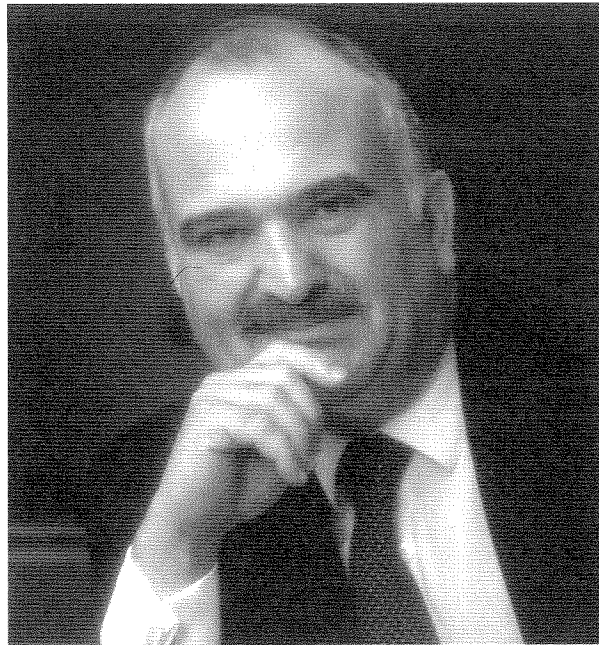

<http://rockefeller.dartmouth.edu>

Rockefeller Blitz Bulletin

Rockefeller.Center@Dartmouth.edu

DEMOCRACY, PUBLIC OPINION AND PUBLIC DIPLOMACY IN THE MIDDLE EAST

JORDANIAN PRINCE KEYNOTES CLASS OF 1930 SERIES

CLASS OF 1930 FELLOW

*Prince of Jordan
His Royal Highness*

Hassan bin Talal

Can Democracy
Take Root in the Muslim World?

Monday

January 26

4:00 PM

Cook Auditorium

Murdough Center

A pluralist and a firm advocate for liberalism and democracy, His Royal Highness Prince El Hassan bin Talal will open the Class of 1930 Fellowship winter term series on Democracy, Public Opinion and Diplomacy in the Middle East. He has initiated and is actively involved in a number of Jordanian and international institutes and committees, including the World Conference on Religion and Peace; the Board of the Nuclear Threat Initiative; and the World Conference against Racism, Racial Discrimination, Xenophobia and Related Intolerance. In addition His Royal Highness is currently working with U.S. Non-Governmental Organizations on a program called Partners in Humanity, established to build understanding and positive relationships between the Muslim world and the United States. Prince El Hassan has also authored several books, including Palestinian Self-Determination (1981), Christianity in the Arab World (1994), In Memory of Faisal I: The Iraqi Question (2003) and To Be a Muslim (2003).

Other lectures in the series include: "The Changing Role of Public Opinion in Palestine" by Khalil Shikaki, Director of the Palestinian Center for Policy and Survey Research at 4:00 PM on Tuesday, January 27 in 105 Dartmouth Hall and "Public Diplomacy and Public Opinion in Israeli-Arab Relations: A Diplomat's View" by Jacob Rosen, Israeli Ministry of Foreign Affairs on Wednesday, January 28 at 4:00 PM in Rockefeller 3.

MARTIN LUTHER KING, JR. CELEBRATION

Events schedule and information at www.dartmouth.edu/~eoaa or 646-3749

Education & Civic Responsibility

Donna Brazile will speak about “Education and Civic Responsibility: Translating Knowledge into Action” on Monday, January 12 at 2:30 PM in Brace Commons. Chair of the Democratic National Committee’s Voting Rights Institute and an Adjunct Professor at Georgetown University, Brazile is a senior political strategist and former Campaign Manager for the 2000 Gore-Lieberman campaign. She was the first African American to lead a major presidential campaign.

A veteran of numerous national and statewide campaigns—Carter-Mondale in 1976 and 1980, Reverend Jesse Jackson in 1984, Mondale-Ferraro in 1984, U.S. Representative Dick Gephardt in 1988, Dukakis-Bentsen in 1988 and Clinton-Gore in 1992 and 1996—she served as Chief of Staff and Press Secretary to Congresswoman Eleanor Holmes Norton of the District of Columbia, helping guide the District’s budget and local legislation on Capitol Hill.

Political Satirist O’Rourke is Brooks Lecturer

Best-selling author and political satirist P. J. O’Rourke comes to Dartmouth on Thursday, January 8 as the Brooks Family Lecturer. His 4:30 PM lecture in Filene Auditorium is entitled, “All the Troubles in the World: If Things Have Been Going to Hell Forever, Why Haven’t They Gotten There Yet?” The lecture is open to the public.

Known as a “hard-bitten, cigar-smoking conservative,” making him unique among contemporary humorists, he isn’t shy about bashing all political persuasions. He has toured the fighting in Bosnia, visited the West Bank disguised as “P. J. of Arabia,” lobbed one-liners on the battlefields of the Gulf War and traded quips with communist rebels in the jungles of the Philippines. A skilled investigative reporter, he covers current events with razor-sharp insights that inform as well as entertain.

International Impact of the U.S. Civil Rights Movement

University of Southern California Law School Professor Mary Dudziak will give a public lecture about “The International Impact of the American Civil Rights Movement” on Thursday, January 22 at 4:30 PM in 105 Dartmouth Hall. Dudziak teaches civil rights history and constitutional law and publishes widely on 20th-century legal history and civil rights history.

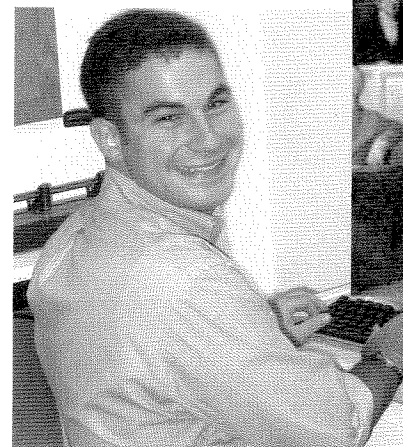

American Foreign Policy Toward Africa

Howard Franklin Jeter, former U.S. Ambassador to the Federal Republic of Nigeria and to Botswana, will be on campus on Wednesday, February 25 to talk about American foreign policy toward Africa at 4:30 PM in 105 Dartmouth Hall.

A career diplomat, Jeter also served as Deputy Assistant Secretary for African Affairs, Director of West African Affairs, the President’s Special Envoy for Liberia and Deputy Chief of Mission in Namibia.

He promoted peace and reconciliation in Liberia and Sierra Leone and was intimately involved in developing U.S. policy toward Nigeria, with special emphasis on supporting an enduring transition to democracy and prosperity.

Dartmouth College Undergraduate

Promoting interest in the field of law, research and providing a forum for intellectuals behind the new student-run law ’05 and Meg Thering ’05, it is public Legal Society. “The response has been Marcuse about the number of articles, coming in. “It says something about the Dartmouth.”

The Dartmouth College Undergraduate handful in the country—produced its end to be distributed shortly.

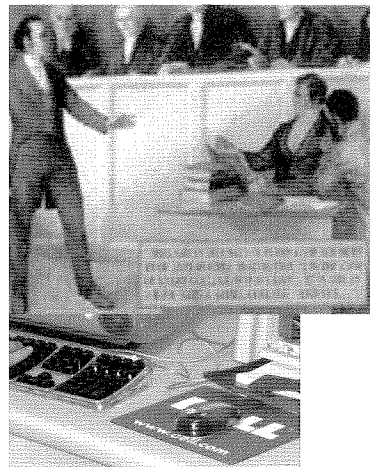

For more information about the Journal page at: <http://rockefeller.dartmouth.edu>

Piety & Public Policy

Boston Globe columnist and contributing editor of Reason Magazine Cathy Young (above) will speak about “Piety and Public Policy” on Monday, March 1 at 4:30 PM in Rockefeller 3. A frequent contributor of book reviews and articles to The Chicago Tribune and The Philadelphia Inquirer, Young writes on a range of topics, including gender issues, education, culture, the legal system, and Russian and Soviet affairs.

graduate Journal of Law

Josh Marcuse, Editor in Chief ouraging undergraduate scholarly actual debate are the guiding prin- journal. Created by Josh Marcuse l by the Center's Daniel Webster "overwhelmingly positive," says each papers, editorials and essays intellectual climate at Rocky and at

Journal of Law—one of only a st edition last spring, with a sec-

l or DWLS, visit the DCUJL web /students/law-journal.html

Cyber Law & Policy

"In a world that is increasingly dependent on technology, the diversity and complexity of technology law will continue to grow," says Diede Van Lamoen '05 (right), a computer science major from Vogelenzang, Holland. Van Lamoen received a Rosenwald Internship Grant through the Rockefeller Center to spend a term at the Baker and McKenzie Cybere Law Centre at the University of New South Wales in Sydney, Australia. While there, he did significant research on a series of policy recommendations for the Centre's anti-spam project. The project's recommendations were highlighted in a mid-October symposium on Australian cyber policy put together by the Centre. Diede's background at Dartmouth includes work with the Institute for Security and Technology Studies on issues of cyber terrorism, and a personal interest in international affairs.

Apply NOW for Spring 2004 Public Affairs & Public Policy Internship Funding

Application Deadline: Thursday • February 5 • 4:00 PM • 206 Rockefeller Hall

Applications and information are available at Rockefeller's 1st & 2nd floor resource areas or

<http://rockefeller.dartmouth.edu/students>

For more information, contact: Jill.Savage@Dartmouth.edu

2003–2004 Rockefeller Scholars

Abigail Baird · Psychological & Brain Sciences
Structural and physiological changes in the limbic system of adolescents

Stephen Brooks · Government
Multinational Corporations and the Changing Calculus of Conflict

Amitabh Chandra · Economics
The Marginal Effectiveness of Medical Technology; Geography and Racial Health Disparities; Holidays and the Timing of Births; The Implications for Infant Mortality

Karen Fisher-Vanden · Environmental Studies Program
Modeling Technological Innovation and Diffusion in Transition Economies: The Case of China; Emissions Trading

Benjamin Forest · Geography
Shaping Representation: Geographic Information Systems and Political Redistricting

Susanne Freidberg · Geography
Food Quality and Inequality in Africa; Plates Unknown: Excursions on the Borders of the Edible, 1850–1930

Kathryn Lively · Sociology
Stress, Mental Health and Health Research

Nina Pavcnik · Economics
Trade Policy Effects of Labor Markets in Developing Countries

Jay Shambaugh · Economics
Monetary Policy Flexibility and Exchange Rate Regimes

Xun Shi · Geography
Critical Techniques in Knowledge-based Automated Soil Mapping

Christopher Sneddon · Environmental Studies & Geography
Transboundary Environmental Governance in the Mekong and Zambezi River Basins

Lucas Swaine · Government
Defusing Political Discord that Theocrats Raise for Free Societies

FACULTY SEMINARS

CLASS OF 1930 ROOM

12:00–1:30 PM

TUESDAY, JANUARY 20

Building a Better Gerrymander?
The Impact of Geographic Information Systems on Political Redistricting

Benjamin Forest, Dartmouth
Assistant Professor of Geography

Lynn Vavreck

FRIDAY, JANUARY 23

Campaign Advertising Effectiveness

Lynn Vavreck, UCLA

Assistant Professor of Government

TUESDAY, JANUARY 27

Trade, Wages and the Political Economy of Trade Protection:
Evidence from the Columbian
Trade Reforms

Nina Pavcnik, Dartmouth

Assistant Professor of Economics

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 17

Fragmented Nation? Mexican Political Identities in Transition

Patricia Martin, Dartmouth

Rockefeller-Geography Post-Doctoral Fellow

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 25

Poverty, Development and Child
Labor in Southeast Asia

Eric Edmonds, Dartmouth

Assistant Professor of Economics

FACULTY WORKSHOP SCHEDULES

HEALTH POLICY WORKSHOP

12:00–1:30 PM, Class of 1930 Room, Rockefeller

THURSDAY, JANUARY 8

Elliott Fisher, Professor of Medicine,
Community & Family Medicine, CECS
“Physician Perceptions of Practice in Regions of Differing Practice Intensity”

[IM]MIGRATION & GENDER WORKSHOP

12:00–1:30 PM, Class of 1930 Room, Rockefeller

THURSDAY, JANUARY 29

Amy Shuman, Associate Professor and Director of the Center for Folklore Studies,
Ohio State University
Revisiting the Liberation Narrative: Shifting Paradigms in Gender and Immigration Studies

LAW & SOCIETY WORKSHOPS

12:00–1:30 PM, Class of 1930 Room, Rockefeller

THURSDAY, JANUARY 15

Lewis Glinert, Professor of Asian and Middle Eastern Languages and Literatures, Dartmouth College

Mistaking the Psychiatrist's Hat: Analytical Critique of Massachusetts Pre-Trial Evaluations

THURSDAY, JANUARY 22, 12:15–1:45 PM

David Blanchflower, Professor of Economics,
Dartmouth College

*Affirmative Action is Alive and Well and Living in Construction: Concrete Works, Gross Seed, Sherbrooke
Turf and All That*

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 12

John Garvey, Dean, Boston College Law School
Does the First Amendment Protect Churches?

GLOBAL ENVIRONMENT WORKSHOP

12:00–1:30 PM, Class of 1930 Room, Rockefeller

THURSDAY, MARCH 3

Loren Brandt, Professor of Economics,
University of Toronto
The Usefulness of Corruptible Elections

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS WORKSHOPS

(Co-Sponsored by Dickey Center)

3:00–6:00 PM, 206 Baker Library

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 14

Jennifer Lind, Dickey-Rockefeller Post-
Doctoral Fellow in International Relations,
Dartmouth College
Sorry States: Apologies in International Politics

THURSDAY, JANUARY 29

Peter Katzenstein, Professor of Political Science,
Cornell University
Regionalism in Asia and Europe

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 11

Steven Weber, Associate Professor of Political Science, University of California, Berkeley

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 25

David Kang, Associate Professor of Government, Dartmouth College
Does the U.S. Alliance System in Asia Balance Power?

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 10

Ian Hurd, Assistant Professor of Political Science, Northwestern University
Arguing About Law and Legitimacy: The Security Council and the Libyan Sanctions 1993–2003

Organization & Strategies Workshop group will reconvene in the 2004 spring term. For more information or to sign up for workshops, contact: Fayan.Nelson@Dartmouth.edu

CALL FOR PROPOSALS

2004–2005 Rockefeller Research Grants

Application Deadline: Monday • April 5 • 4:00 PM • 102 Rockefeller Hall

Applications and information on-line at:

<http://rockefeller.dartmouth.edu/faculty/resources>

For more information, contact: Fayan.Nelson@Dartmouth.edu

Rockefeller Scholars pictured at left: 1) Jay Shambaugh;
2) Amitabh Chandra; 3) Nina Pavcnik; 4) Linda Fowler, Director, Rockefeller Center; 5) Susanne Freidberg;
6) Ben Forest; 7) Xun Shi; 8) Stephen Brooks;
9) Karen Fisher-Vanden; 10) Lucas Swaine.
Not pictured: Abigail Baird, Kathryn Lively, Christopher Sneddon.

by Linda L. Fowler, Director

Volatility has always been a characteristic feature of the New Hampshire primary, and this year is no exception. With a crowded field of Democratic candidates and mixed signals about the economy and the Iraq war, voters are unsure about which issues and personal traits will define the 2004 election. The campaigns, too, are wrestling with political unknowns.

The biggest question in the New Hampshire primary is voter turnout. With same-day registration and rules permitting undeclared voters to pick a party primary when they vote, it is a challenge to predict who will show up on election day. The best way to control for variability in turnout is to employ a battery of questions to identify "likely voters." Polling organizations that rely on a single question about vote intention or registration have a high error rate, but it is difficult to tell from press accounts which ones are apt to be mistaken. A good rule of thumb, therefore, is to regard them all with skepticism.

Another source of uncertainty is the learning that goes on during the campaign. My research with faculty colleagues on primary voters indicates that many do not pay attention to the race until early January. Moreover, they switch their preferences frequently as they pick up information about the candidates. Even when poll numbers look fairly stable, allegiances may be shifting rapidly underneath.

Finally, New Hampshire is a fruitful state for grass roots organizing. My research confirms the lore about the importance of personal contact with voters in reinforcing favorable opinions about a candidate. Voters try to learn more about candidates who interest them, and such contact tends to make them feel more positive. In addition, many organizations engage in extensive member-to-member mobilization that has proved highly effective in boosting turnout. Such activity is seldom visible to political commentators, but it has led to upsets in the past.

The history of the New Hampshire primary is full of examples of candidates who came seemingly out of nowhere to upset the front-runner or who faded in the last stretch. Pat Buchanan's narrow win over Bob Dole in 1996; John McCain's surge against George Bush in 2000; and Bill Bradley's fade against Al Gore in 2000 all testify to the power of New Hampshire voters to confound conventional wisdom. Given this track record, I never make predictions about the outcome—especially this year.

Rockefeller Center Director Linda Fowler, the Frank Reagan Professor of Policy Studies, teaches in the Government Department.

campaign 2004

Primary Madness

Emerging trends in the nominating process and the likely consequences of a compressed primary season will be the thrust of a discussion, entitled "Off to the Races: Darkhorses and Frontrunners in the Presidential Primaries." The public program is scheduled for Thursday, January 29 at 4:30 PM in the Center's Hinman Forum. Panelists include, Emory University political scientist ALAN ABRAMOWITZ—an expert in forecasting presidential elections—and Center Director LINDA FOWLER and St. Anselm College Visiting Scholar DEAN SPILIOTES, both experts on the New Hampshire Primary and New Hampshire voters.

Former Vermont Governor Howard Dean made several campaign stops at Dartmouth during the fall term.

ECONOMICS & GOVERNMENT MAJORS!

Spend a term for credit at Oxford

2004–2005 Application Deadline:

Monday · February 2

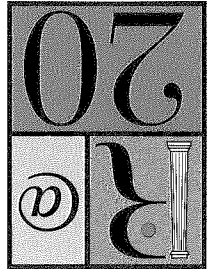

For more information:

<http://rockefeller.dartmouth.edu/students>

Jeremy.Eggleton@Dartmouth.edu

Karen.Liot@Dartmouth.edu

ROCKEFELLER CENTER AT
DARTMOUTH COLLEGE
6082 Rockefeller Hall
Hanover, NH 03755-3514

winter 2004 • public events

THURSDAY, JANUARY 8

4:30 PM, FILENE AUDITORIUM, MOORE HALL

All the Troubles in the World:
If Things Have Been Going to Hell Forever, Why Haven't They Gotten There Yet?

R. J. O'ROURKE

Author and Political Satirist

MONDAY, JANUARY 12

2:30 PM, BRACE COMMONS

Education and Civic Responsibility: Translating Knowledge Into Action

DONNA BRAZILE

Political Strategist

THURSDAY, JANUARY 22

4:30 PM, 105 DARTMOUTH HALL

The International Impact of the American Civil Rights Movement

MARY DUDZIAK

Professor of Law and History, University of Southern California Law School

JANUARY 26–28

CLASS OF 1930 FELLOWSHIP SERIES

Democracy, Public Opinion and Public Diplomacy in the Middle East

MONDAY, JANUARY 26

4:00 PM, COOK AUDITORIUM, MURDOUGH

CLASS OF 1930 FELLOW LECTURE

Can Democracy Take Root in the Muslim World?

HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS

HASSAN BIN TALAL

Prince of Jordan

TUESDAY, JANUARY 27

4:00 PM, 105 DARTMOUTH HALL

CLASS OF 1930 FELLOWSHIP SERIES

The Changing Role of Public Opinion in Palestine

KHALIL SHIKAKI

Director, Palestinian Center for Policy and Survey Research

TUESDAY, JANUARY 27

8:00 PM, HINMAN FORUM, ROCKEFELLER HALL

NEW HAMPSHIRE PRIMARY PARTY

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 28

4:00 PM, 3 ROCKEFELLER HALL

CLASS OF 1930 FELLOWSHIP SERIES

Public Diplomacy and Public Opinion in Israeli-Arab Relations: A Diplomat's View

JACOB ROSEN

Israeli Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Author

THURSDAY, JANUARY 29

4:30 PM, HINMAN FORUM, ROCKEFELLER HALL

Off to the Races: Darkhorses and Frontrunners in the Presidential Primaries

ALAN ABRAMOWITZ

Professor of Political Science, Emory University

LINDA FOWLER

Professor of Government, Dartmouth College

DEAN SPILIOTES

Visiting Scholar, New Hampshire Institute of Politics, Saint Anselm College

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 4

8:00 PM, CARSON LOI & LO2

LIVE FROM THE 92ND STREET Y

(VIA SATELLITE)

The Crisis and Challenges Confronting Israel, the Jewish Community and Global Society

WILLIAM SAFIRE

New York Times columnist

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 25

4:30 PM, 105 DARTMOUTH HALL

American Foreign Policy Toward Africa

HOWARD FRANKLIN JETER

Former U.S. Ambassador to Nigeria and Botswana

MONDAY, MARCH 1

4:30 PM, 3 ROCKEFELLER HALL

Piety and Public Policy

CATHY YOUNG

Editor, Reason Magazine; Boston Globe columnist

Dates, times and locations are subject to change. For current information, connect to:
<http://rockefeller.dartmouth.edu>