Annual Symposia

Gender Matters: Feminist Ecologies and Materialities
Spring 2016

Just Words?: Free Speech and Social Change
Spring 2015

Times of Crisis
Spring 2014

Seeds of Change: Gender, Scholarship & Social Justice
Spring 2013

GRID Experiences

“The GRID WGST 96 course this past spring was one of my favorite classes at Dartmouth … I really appreciated the opportunity to engage with so many scholars in an informal, non-classroom setting where undergraduate student input was valued as equal to that of professors and visiting lecturers in the room.”

Katie Bonner ’15, Past GRID Fellow
On the 2014-15 GRID Fellowship

“This throughout the project, we were encouraged to apply intersectional, international, feminist theory to a variety of policies, media portrayals, NGO operations, and popular narratives that surround trafficked women… The relationships that I was able to forge through the BIDEA project have also deeply impacted my learning here at Dartmouth. Never before have I felt so humbled and grateful to learn from my professors and peers on a joint project.”

Nicole Collins ’16
On the BIDEA project

Examples of Undergraduate Opportunities

• BIDEA Seminar on Female Trafficking and Sexual Violence with University of Deusto, Boston College, and Dartmouth College

• GRID/Tuck Undergraduate Consulting Opportunity in Kosovo with University of Pristina

• Internship at Sackler Center for Feminist Art at the Brooklyn Museum, NY

• Seminar on Body Politics: (Wo)men, Families, and Reproductive Rights

“a meeting ground of researcher teachers, students, outreach professionals, and scholar-activists social justice”

~

http://www.dartmouth.edu/~grid/