

Research At Rauner: From Inspiration to Publication

This exhibition presents five recent books, each surrounded by their source materials, where authors found inspiration in the rich holdings of Rauner Special Collections Library. The final printed books mask the work that went into each project. These scholars worked with Rauner staff to sift through thousands of documents to uncover untold histories. The key books and documents give only a glimpse of the long hours of research supporting each book. We are pleased to present some of the fruits of the scholarship conducted in Rauner Library every day.

The exhibition was created by Sarah Hartwell and Jay Satterfield and was on display in the Class of 1965 Galleries from April 20 to June 5, 2009.
